COOL SHOWERS
TO BRING END
TO HEAT WAVEUnseasonable Weather
In Midwest Established a Record

Chicago, April 9—(UP)—Cooling showers were forecast today to end suddenly an unseasonable heat wave which sent temperatures to an all-time midwestern record for the date and which was blamed indirectly for the deaths of six children in Chicago.

The children, ranging in age from 3 to 13, were killed by automobiles as they rumbled in the streets, enjoying the premature summer weather which so many motorists also were enjoying that traffic became unusually heavy.

The heat also was blamed indirectly for the death of Nels Roberts, 33, student pilot, in a peculiar airplane crash at Sky Harbor airport. Roberts' plane dropped suddenly from an altitude of 150 feet. Veteran fliers said he was caught in conflicting air currents caused by cold air rising from Lake Michigan and cutting into the warm atmosphere hovering over the land.

Only once before in the history of the Weather Bureau did the temperature ever go as high this early in the year as it did yesterday. That was in 1886, when the mercury climbed to 84 on April 7.

Set New Record
Yesterday the temperature went to between 80 and 81 degrees between 3 and 4 P. M. The previous record for April 8 was 75.

At Kansas City a high mark of 84 was reached, the warmest it had been on that date in 49 years. At Omaha the maximum was 85, two degrees lower than the all-time record.

At St. Louis, 83, and at St. Paul, 82, the heat wave, extending as far west as the Mississippi, was felt in other sections of the country. New York City has its first real spring weather of the year and the temperatures going to above the seasonal averages in Rocky Mountain states. A maximum of 62 was reached at Denver.

Reports from many cities in the midwest said swimmers were taking their first dips of the season. In Chicago golf courses were crowded. Most of the players made the rounds in their shirt sleeves.

Parks assumed the aspect of mid-summer, with thousands of children playing around the lagoons, on the tennis courts and across the "prairies," a term used here to designate almost any plot of ground not occupied by a building.

SITUATION IN HOUSE THROWN
INTO CONFUSIONLongworth's Death Complicates Organization
Of Congress

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, April 9—(UP)—The death of Speaker Longworth throws confusion into the delicately balanced situation in the House of Representatives.

And it is possible, though nothing is known at the moment, that his widow, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, might succeed to his seat. No woman in Washington knows politics more intimately than she, in spite of her refusal ever to participate openly in political activity.

Longworth's death raises two questions in the House, first whether Longworth, who was re-elected last November by a close margin, will be succeeded by a Democrat from the First Ohio district; and second, who will succeed to his place as the first Republican in the House. He would have been re-elected speaker in event the Republicans retained control or would have become minority leader in event the Democrats organized the House.

Three Vacancies
Longworth's death makes the count in the House stand now 216 Republicans, 215 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor and three vacancies. Two of the vacancies were left by Republican deaths, those of Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin and Longworth and the other from a normal Democratic district, that created by the death of James B. Aswell, of Louisiana.

Democrats will make a strong fight to win the seat left vacant in Cincinnati by Longworth, who was re-elected by the uncomfortably small margin of 3,507 votes in that district last November, with a total vote of 97,455 cast.

If a Democrat were elected to the seat held for 26 years by Longworth and Wisconsin and Louisiana Republicans, as expected, to the House, then the two parties would be tied with 217 members each, with the decision as to organization resting upon the powerful young shoulders of Paul Kvale, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota.

Republicans ambitious for the Speakership, which Longworth in his six-year tenure has made once again a powerful post, soon will begin their campaigns to line up support for themselves.

Republicans, who renominated Longworth as Speaker at a caucus just before the last session ended, will have to call another caucus to decide on a new candidate, but the caucus will be long delayed and may not be held until just before the beginning of the next Congress because of the conflicting interests of the various candidates.

Candidates Mentioned

Those mentioned as candidates include John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, who lies next in the regular order of succession; Representatives Hook, Kansas; Ramseyer, Iowa; Hooper, Michigan; Purnell, Ind.; Snell, N. Y., who is chairman of the important Rules committee; and Michener, Mich., who is a member of the Rules committee. Republicans from the farm states are expected to make a strong bid to elect a Speaker representative of their interests, and this movement will have considerable strength because of the dissatisfaction among representatives from the west, not only because of the agricultural relief issue but also because of the demand from a large part of that section for protection for this independent oil industry.

This movement will militate against the chances of both Tilson and Snell and those who know the sentiment in the House consider their candidacies as facing rather heavy obstacles. These two would draw support from eastern Republicans.

One hundred and fifty years ago the only known method of generating electricity was to rub glass, wax or resin with the dry hand or with a dry cloth, and a popular amusement, consisted of two people doing this and giving each other an electric kiss.

There were 14 new common law cases. The village of Franklin Grove has been made the defendant in a suit for $3000 brought by Marr, Green & Oppen, Inc., of Chicago, an engineering firm who made plans, estimates and specifications for a sewage system in the village and for the levy of a special assessment to pay the cost of engineering service in connection with the improvement. The improvement was abandoned when taken into the County Court.

LOVE CULT AND MURDER PROBED
BY AUTHORITIESPittsburgh Woman Is Questioned By Detectives

Pittsburgh, Apr. 9—(AP)—A frail little woman sat in a cell in the county jail here today waiting for detectives to ask her further questions concerning a "love cult" and the slaying of Miss Minnie E. Dilley, 76, who was found dead at Forty Fort, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., last week.

Mrs. Frances Thompson, 29, former Pittsburgh teacher, daughter of a former minister, was arrested last night and detectives said she told them the Forty Fort spinster wanted her to become head of a "love cult," but insisted she knew nothing of the slaying.

Mrs. Thompson at one time was a neighbor of Miss Dilley in Forty Fort and investigators said she had written the aged woman letters in which she accused Miss Dilley of having a strange influence over her husband.

The husband, Carl Thompson, 33, was arrested a short time before Mrs. Thompson was taken into custody. Later he was released.

Officers Not Satisfied

Detectives said they were not satisfied with Mrs. Thompson's description of her movements during that time. She said she had just "traveled around."

Luzerne county authorities came here last night and prepared to remove Mrs. Thompson to Wilkes-Barre, probably later today.

Miss Dilley was found dead in her home. Her head was crushed and her throat slashed. Investigators expressed the belief she had been several days when the body was found.

Four years ago the Thompsons rented a house from Miss Dilley, a reputed eccentric and wealthy. Mrs. Thompson had been writing to Miss Dilley at intervals for four years, detectives said. Mrs. Johnson said they always had been on "good terms."

Dixon Woman Hurt
In Auto Collision

Mrs. Hannah Chronister, 815 Ottawa avenue, this city sustained painful bruises about the head and body and her two brothers, John and William Geiger, escaped injury last evening about 3:30 in an automobile accident at First street and Ottawa avenue when the car in which three had just returned home from Preepoot was struck, turned completely around and turned over on its side when struck by another machine driven by Miss Donna Place of this city.

Mrs. Chronister, in addition to painful bruises about the head and body, suffered from the shock. She was removed from the overturned machine and taken to the hospital immediately. The others who figured in the accident were uninjured, sustaining only a shaking up when the cars collided. The car in which Mrs. Chronister was a passenger was going south on Ottawa avenue and at the intersection of First street was struck by the Place car which was being driven west on First street.

Neither of the cars was badly damaged. Reports from the hospital today indicated that Mrs. Chronister was resting as comfortably as could be expected.

Longworth died in the kind of a setting he loved best, amid the elegance of a millionaire's winter home with its flowering magnolias sweeping the windows, where sport and laughter and ease reigned, epicurean's paradise.

Hour after hour Longworth had inhaled air artificially richened with oxygen. A physician stood almost constantly by his bedside. Within the oxygen tent the labored breathing continued, but at last Longworth was not equal to the strain his illness forced upon him.

Four nurses labored to ease the stricken statesman. From the calm confidence of midday Wednesday the feeling changed rapidly during the evening to anxiety and despair. There was brusque notice of the serious turn in Longworth's condition at 9 o'clock last night. Subsequent information added to the gloomy prospect. It became apparent Longworth had small chance of surviving. Two physicians worked over him as day broke and still others came to his bedside near the end.

Just before the signal of death was waved from the sick room window, a doctor was rushed up the driveway at terrific speed and without pausing to give his name ran up the steps and burst through the door apparently in answer to a frantic call. But apparently Longworth had ever then passed beyond the help of human hands.

Just before Longworth died, when all hope had been abandoned, the motor truck rumbled through the gates and to a rear door. Trunks and handbags and hat boxes were piled into it—Nick Longworth's baggage bent sent to the train for his last long journey.

Twenty minutes before the Speaker died, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of Washington, D. C. arrived by motor car to be with her friend, Mrs. Longworth.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Aiken, S. C., April 9—(UP)—Nicholas Longworth Speaker of the House of Representatives in the 69th, 70th and 71st Congresses, died today.

Death came within two days after Longworth's serious illness with pneumonia had become known.

The speaker—a powerful figure in the Republican party and beloved by political friends and foe alike—was stricken while a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Curtis at this winter resort.

Monday night his illness was diagnosed as pneumonia and Mrs. Longworth, "Princess Alice Roosevelt," was summoned from Washington.

For a time the doctors were hopeful, but soon their bulletins became increasingly alarming.

Doctor Signaled End

At 10:32 A. M. today Dr. Robert H. Wilds, chief of the medical staff attending Longworth, came to a window in the Curtis old colonial mansion. He raised his hand in one slow gesture to the waiting newspapermen. It was a signal to the world that the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives was dead.

Just before 11 A. M. Dr. Thomas G. Brooks, most youthful member of the medical staff, came bareheaded from the house. He spoke quietly to the United Press correspondent.

"There is nothing to say," he said, "except that Mr. Longworth died at eight minutes before 1 o'clock."

Then he returned into the house. Soon a maid was seen going to various windows, adjusting a drape, drawing a blind. The coming and going of delivery men and messengers stopped. The driveway gates remained open, but there was something about the place which stilled activity.

Wife Not Seen
Princess Alice was nowhere to be seen.

Capital Mourns
"Nick" Longworth,
Speaker Of House

NICHOLAS LONGWORTH

Pneumonia, which developed Monday night, this morning claimed the life of Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the national House of Representatives at Aiken, N. C. He passed away at 10:49 o'clock.

To Cincinnati, the family home, it was learned.

Longworth had been an annual guest of the Curtises. He arrived about April 1, a month after the end of his most strenuous session as Speaker. He was suffering from a cold. On April 6 he was ordered to bed, and his physicians diagnosed pneumonia.

Longworth was 61 years old and his age was a factor in the rapid progress of the pneumonia condition. The strenuous short and concluding session of the 71st Congress this winter imposed a severe strain on him, not only because of his official responsibilities as Speaker, but owing to his informal role of conciliator among embattled members of his own party.

Mrs. Longworth reached Aiken Wednesday and was reassured by her host and Doctors Robert H. Wilds and Thomas Brooks of Aiken, who informed her and then made public a statement that the Speaker was in no immediate danger. He failed during the day and his condition at night was pronounced critical.

At Favorite Retreat

The Curtis home in which Longworth became seriously ill is one of the south's show places and has been a favorite retreat for Longworth for many years because here he found music, gay company and golf which rested him from the business session of Congress in Washington.

On this late visit to Aiken, Longworth was noticeably less fit than on other occasions. The cold from which he was suffering when he arrived interfered with his golf and a husky throat was a source of no small annoyance to one who enjoys a song of his own as well as the arias of the metropolitan opera.

Consulting physicians were summoned as Longworth's illness progressed. Miss Elizabeth Nelson of Washington, whose connection with the Longworth family is of many years' standing, came to nurse him. Four nurses in all attended his bedside.

Nicholas Longworth was perhaps the foremost present-day example of how a man born with a golden spoon in his mouth can be a statesman and a good fellow to everyone. His bitterest political enemies were among his best personal friends. He made politics his life work, and starting as a precinct worker in Cincinnati, he rose to the Speakership of the House of Representatives—a place held by many to be the second most powerful in the federal government.

VIVIAN GORDON
SOLVED TODAYBroadway Dope Peddler Held for Murder of New York Woman

New York, April 9—(UP)—Harry Stein, 32, known to police as a Broadway racketeer, dope peddler, and petty thief, was charged today with the murder of Vivian Gordon.

The charges were placed against him after police had questioned him thoroughly on the strange slaying of the red-haired woman who apparently made a lucrative living by preying on wealthy men at the edge of the underworld.

Stein and three other men were arrested last night and questioned all night long. Finally this morning police announced that the formal charge of murder had been placed against Stein and that the three other men were held as material witnesses.

Robbery was the motive of the slaying, police said.

Vivian was known to have been wearing an expensive fur coat and a valuable ring just before she was found garroted on the fringe of Van Courtlandt park several weeks ago.

The robbery motive was used by police in their investigation immediately after her body was found but later was dropped when it became known that Vivian had offered to be a witness before the Appellate Court inquiry into vice conditions.

Damaging Admissions.

Detectives said that during questioning, Stein made many damaging admissions.

His effort to pawn a $500 diamond-studded wrist watch which was missing from the dead woman's body led to his arrest and the formal charge of murder, police said.

Stein was seen entering an automobile with Miss Gordon the night she was killed, according to detectives.

When questioned in the police "lineup" this morning all the prisoners denied knowing the dead woman but Stein admitted, under questioning of Inspector Sullivan, that he served a term in Sing Sing for an attempt to strangle a woman.

Police said further that the names of Stein, Greenberg and Levine appeared in one of Miss Gordon's diaries. The woman made note of the fact, they said, that she had financed a trip to Norway for the three men. She contributed $1,500 toward the trip, according to the entry. The names of the three men held as witnesses were given out at the "line-up" as Samuel Greenberg, alias Greenhair, 44, 11 Rivington Street; Morris "Doc" Levine, 36, 1248 Washington Avenue; David Butterman, 34, 627 W. 73rd Street.

Had Stolen Property.
It was also made known that a fifth man—Jack Holdcraft, 29—was taken into custody in connection with violation of the Sullivan law against carrying concealed weapons.

When they went to Holdcraft's home, detectives said, they found a set of burglar tools, three masks and a large bunch of keys. Holdcraft, who said he is an Englishman, attempted to explain the presence of these things in his home with the assertion that "I used to be a steward on an ocean liner."

Stein admitted, according to Inspector Sullivan, that he, Greenberg and Levine made a trip to Norway. Stein said, according to Sullivan, that they made the trip on a "bootlegging deal." The other two men insisted, however, that they were on a pleasure trip according to the Inspector.

The entry referring to the Norway trip in Miss Gordon's diary mentioned, Sullivan said, "a bank job."

In addition to the attempt on Stein's part to pawn the wrist watch, Inspector Sullivan said, Stein recently tried to pawn a $2,500 fur coat which belonged to the slain woman.

STATE PARK IS

AT GRANT HOMELand Around House at Galena Is Being Secured By State

Galena, Ill., April 9.—(UP)—Establishment of the Grant Homestead State Park around the home in Galena which was presented to General U. S. Grant after the Civil War, is being planned by the State Department of Public Works and Buildings.
The residence, which the Commanding General of the northern armies occupied for a time after the struggle, has been proffered the state by the city of Galena and has been accepted.
The state is acquiring property around the homestead, which has been maintained for many years by the city and is open to visitors. Several lots have been donated and options on others are being obtained. The park will be irregular in shape, covering an area of several square blocks.
To the park Director H. H. Cleaveland of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, proposes to move another residence in Galena in which Grant moved in 1860 and in which he left the following year to reenter the army with Illinois troops when the war broke out. The house, which the state plans to acquire, is now occupied by a family in Galena. It is well preserved.
After the war citizens of the city raised a fund by subscription and presented the other home to Grant. He lived in it a short time before becoming President, but spent the latter years of his life in the east.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO CONGRESS-

He refused to leave his party even in 1912, when his long-time political leader and father-in-law, Theodore Roosevelt bolted the party. His service in the House dated from 1893 straight through to the end, with the exception of two years following the 1912 election. He served three two-year terms as Speaker, starting in 1925 and was unanimously nominated by a Republican House conference in February as his party's candidate to succeed himself in the 72nd Congress meeting in December.

Harvard Graduate
Born Nov. 5, 1869, of a wealthy old family in Cincinnati, he was educated in Harvard, receiving an A. B. degree and taking a law course there and receiving his law degree from Cincinnati law school, in 1894.

He was admitted to the bar the same year. He joined a precinct Republican club, and marched in torchlight parades. One of his favorite stories was that in one of them he complained to a graybeard marching-mate that he couldn't even hear the band. "I've been marching in these parades for 20 years, and I never have heard the band, young fellow," was the reply.

But Longworth heard the band. He headed the parade, on legislative matters, for nearly a decade.

He was named to the Board of Education in Cincinnati in 1898. The next year he was elected to the Ohio House, and two years later to the state Senate. In 1902 he was elected to the house of Representatives from the First Ohio district.

Became Popular
In the Capital, his affable personality made him at once a popular figure. He was entertained at the White House by his party leader, President Roosevelt, and there he met Alice Lee Roosevelt, the President's daughter, a girl whose escapades excited and amused the nation for years. He wooed "Princess Alice" and they were married in the White House, February 17, 1906 in a magnificent formal wedding which set nearly a nation to talking.

During his years as a Congressman in the rank and file, Longworth was a leader in legislation, working mostly in committees rather than in debates on the floor. He was particularly active in advocating preparedness of the Rooseveltian variety, and he has been known as a "Big Navy" man. He was active in urging high tariff on dyes in the pre-war days, in an effort to make this nation independent of the German dye industry.

Longworth established himself in a beautiful white stone house on Massachusetts Avenue here, and he and "Alice," as his wife was known to everyone in Washington, became leaders in Capital society life.

Nevertheless, he enjoyed the quiet pleasure of playing his violin and even composing music at times, and through study of precedents became one of the leading parliamentary law authorities of this party.

Took Part In Work
His knowledge of House rules and parliamentary law helped him when the Republicans came in power, and he was named party floor-leader in 1923. Two years later, he was elected Speaker.

Longworth believed that in addition to presiding over the House, the Speaker should take part in its work, and he practiced his belief. In conjunction with the Republican floor-leader, John Q. Tilson of Connecticut and the Rules committee chairman, Bernard H. Sted of New York, he formulated and helped to put through many party plans.

Usually he worked closely with the White House, but in recent months he opposed the President's policies, but only when he was convinced that the majority of the Republican House members were against the President. The leading instance was the World War Veterans loan bill, passed by both houses over Mr. Hoover's veto.

On rare occasions, he left the Speaker's chair to address the House in person, once in support of a Navy bill, again in support of Veteran's legislation.

He was genial and affable in private contacts, but dignified in the Speaker's chair.

Longworth was known as one of the best dressed men in public life.

James A. Logan
Seeking Mayor's
Office in Amboy

James A. Logan of Amboy, who has sought many offices in Illinois, and who served a long sentence in the Vandalla state work farm for violation of the prohibition laws of the state, is again seeking office. This time he is a candidate for the office of mayor of Amboy, opposing John P. Harvey, member of the county Board of Review, who is well known throughout the county and is a prominent business man of that city.

Logan has one of his unique hand bills in circulation announcing his candidacy, several of which have reached Dixon, and are as follows:

"Notice! Here goes the race—Amboy's council with James A. Logan's jewelry house to the lumber yard. K-biff, here goes James A. Logan in full array for mayor of Amboy on a single track to head them off one-half mile away. Begging and pleading with Amboy people to throw bricks and rocks in their way on election day, to prevent the Amboy council from putting the jewelry house in a lively stable. Pat states, by jabsers, Logan, you will win the race. You are by dissembling nature, built and geared up to run both ways. By the way, I see you have put the cobosh on the trouble-making snoopers and the mud-slinging, non-qualifying jabbers with a few worms in a loaf of baker's bread to boil and bake all on the run for the outside gaze. Bidding you good-night and good luck, James A. Logan, candidate for mayor Amboy, Illinois."

Telegraph Operator Put Under Arrest
Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Warrants issued in the Shakespear police court today charged a woman telegraph employ and her husband with intercepting a telegram which William Hale Thompson used in his unsuccessful campaign for re-election as mayor.

The persons named are Mrs. Mildred Buckley, Western Union employee, and her husband James. The warrants were sworn out by F. D. Bernke, Western Union representative.

The telegram in question, according to the State's Attorney's office, was addressed to Martin Ryerson, Chicago Banker, in Paris, and read:

"May we ask for subscriptions toward Cermak's campaign against Thompson? Cermak can be elected if we get sufficient money."
"H. H. Porter."

President Cheese Board Threatened
Plymouth, Wis., April 9.—(UP)—A letter threatening death to Horace C. Davis, president of the Plymouth Cheese Exchange, unless he raises the price of cheese to 25 cents was turned over to postal authorities here today.

Printed in pencil and unsigned, the letter said:

"Water your smoke. Raise the price of cheese to 25 cents. If not we will fill you full of holes with machine gun bullets."

Davis said he believed the communication was from a crank rather than an indignant farmer.

One Of Trio Bank Robbers Is Killed
Washington, Apr. 9.—(AP)—An unidentified armed bandit was shot and killed today when he and two companions attempted to holdup the First National Bank at Marlboro, Maryland, near here.

When the three bandits entered the bank, Assistant Cashier Claude H. Owen refused to follow their command to hold up his hands.

Instead he opened fire. The slain man's companions escaped in an automobile carrying an Illinois license and with the Sheriff of Prince Georges county in pursuit sped toward this city.

Eight Negroes Must Die In Ala. Chair
Scottsboro, Ala., Apr. 9.—(AP)—A Jackson county jury today convicted five Negroes ranging in age, 16 to 19 years of attacking two white girls hobbing on a freight train and fixed their punishment at death in the electric chair.

THE WATER LILY POOL

The water-lily pool—
O'ergrown with white and yellow,
Pale lilies nestling on the cool
Calm water, is a mellow
Untroubled haven of delight!
The widespread willow bends
Down from her graceful height
To kiss the lilies in their nests of green.

Here tiny tadpoles dwell,
And silvery darting fish as well;
And there, among the reed-fringed parts,
The swift reed-warbler darts.
So fair a spot—this water-lily pool!
When beautiful summer days are hot

The weeping willow is a cool
Retreat; And in the quiet twilight
Before comes darkness of the night,
When the majestic swans are in their nest
And other living things are gone to rest.
Here seems to gently brood
A wondrous quietude!

The F. and F. Club was happily entertained last evening by Mrs. Richard Pomeroy at the home of her mother in Lee Center with a 6 o'clock dinner. The tables were prettily decorated with spring flowers. At bridge which followed Mrs. William Lee won the favor for first honors, with Mrs. Charles Burke winning the second favor, and Mrs. Rae Arnold the consolation favor. The club will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. James Anderson.

Fetzer-Opsal Wedding Wednesday

A quiet church wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Immanuel Lutheran church, with the pastor, Rev. A. G. Suechting officiating at the ceremony. Mrs. Suechting presided at the organ and played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as the bride party assumed their places for the wedding. The single ring ceremony was used.

The bride, Miss Esther Opsal of Meriden, Ill., was attractively gowned in peach colored silk and she carried a lovely bouquet of red roses. The bridegroom, Lester Fetzer, of May township was attended by Carl Opsal brother of the bride, and Mrs. Carl Opsal attended the bride as matron of honor. Mrs. Opsal wore a pretty gown of yellow silk and carried tea roses.

After the wedding ceremony the party motored to the home of the bride's parents in Meriden where a delicious wedding dinner was awaiting them and which was attended by the immediate relatives. Palms and cut flowers decorated the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fetzer after a brief honeymoon, will make their home on the farm in May township, owned by the bridegroom's father, Herman Fetzer. Many friends will unite in extending best wishes and congratulations to this estimable young couple and wish them much happiness.

Annual K. T. Ball Was Successful and Most Enjoyable Affair

The annual grand ball and card party given by Dixon Commandery, No. 21, at Masonic Temple last evening was a wonderful success. The guests began to arrive as early as 7:30. The program began with an exhibition drill by the ladies patrol team of the White Shrine. These young ladies, under the direction of their drill master, Lloyd Lewis, practice new and intricate drills each week and their work, which is perfect, arouses much comment and applause. Their exhibition was followed immediately by a concert given by the drum and bugle corps who also devote a great deal of time to rehearsals. The character of their work makes it difficult to tone it down for inside concerts. Mrs. Ruby Shippee played some beautiful violin solos accompanied by Miss Louisa Quirk, both of Ashton and the entire battalion of Sir Knights marched on the floor and gave a part of their inspection drill including the presentation of the colors and the passing in review in company formation before the inspecting officer, Glenn F. Coe. The big affair of the evening is always the Grand March and the Sir Knights and their ladies formed into line immediately after the drill headed by the Commander, Sir Knight Grover Gehan and Mrs. Gehan. The military feature of an arch of steel formed by the swords of the Sir Knights in full uniform is always a part of the Grand March. The next feature was the formation of an immense cross by the Sir Knights and their ladies and the final one was a mass formation which ended the Grand March. The Sir Knights in their sombre black uniforms with their ladies in beautiful evening gowns made a picture that is always attractive to the many guests.

Tables for the card party were arranged in the parlors and beautiful prizes were awarded. The first ladies' prize, a large pewter water pitcher, was won by Mrs. Carl Hasselberg; the second prize, a mahogany end table, was won by Mrs. William L. Fry. The first gentlemen's prize, a scarf pin, was won by William Crawford of Franklin Grove and the second prize, a box of handkerchiefs, was won by Edward Swan.

The dancing party was attended by a great number of young people, most of the young gentlemen being members of the Dixon Chapter of DeMolay. The orchestra had secured a number of new dance numbers and had spent considerable time rehearsing them and consequently the music received many favorable comments. The party continued until after midnight when a tired but happy crowd wended their way home.

$1,000,000 LEGAL FEES.

The million-dollar fee in a lawsuit is something that always jabs the attention of the ordinary citizen. It seems rather high. It makes one wonder just how great a man's legal attainments must be to make such a fee proper. It probably leads a number of young men to night law schools.

A few days ago it was announced that fees "of at least $1,000,000" for their services in 14 years of litigation about oil patents were being asked by ex-Senator James A. Reed and Charles W. German of Kansas City, lawyers.

Sometime before that there was another equally large legal fee up for discussion in the newspapers. Farther back in the past there have been other such fees. They are not unheard of, although of course the average lawyers dreams hungrily of them but never gets them.

The man in the street, probably, is moved by such news items to remark, peevishly, "No lawyer on earth is worth that much money." But the interesting point is that that complaint is unjustified. Some lawyers are worth every cent of a million dollars for their work in certain involved cases; and that is one of the most illuminating bits of evidence concerning our legal system that you could ever ask for.

Legal procedure has grown extraordinarily complicated during the last few generations. It isn't anybody's fault, and the remedy—if there is one—isn't on the horizon just at this moment. That cumbersome edifice called The Law gets new accretions from each generation. It is filled with mazes and hidden passageways. It has more subtleties than an oriental system of philosophy.

As a result, the ordinary man, when he bumps his head into it, is lost. What seems a fairly clear problem in everyday life grows devious and baffling when it gets into court; and what is actually complicated to begin with takes on the proportions of an insoluble puzzle, devised by impish gods to plague helpless mortals, when it becomes a legal question.

This is not the fault of the present-day lawyers. They did not invent the system. It existed before they tried their first cases, and sometimes it seems beyond human influence. Most lawyers, probably, would give a good deal to see the system simplified.

Nevertheless, the system is a drag on our economic and social life. The mere fact that our method of settling disputes between man and man has grown so complicated that a lawyer can honestly earn $1,000,000 for his part in such a settlement is ample proof that we need a rather thorough revision of the whole procedure.

A PLAN FOR OUR VIRGIN ISLES.

Commenting on the impoverishment in the Virgin Islands, which he recently visited, President Hoover declared, "Viewed from every point, except remote naval contingencies, it is unfortunate that we ever acquired these islands."

And perhaps Virgin Islanders are just as sorry as the President that the United States ever made the purchase. Since we took possession of this little trio of islands in the Caribbean 14 years ago, their profitable rum business has been ruined by the Volstead act and their commerce hampered by our shipping regulations. As a consequence thousands of natives have left the islands, and they are worse off economically than they were under Danish control.

But it is a mistake to assume that we can do nothing in restoring, in some measure, the prosperity they once enjoyed. The natural charm of the islands, which have been called "The Gardens of Eden of the Caribbean," suggests, for one thing, that we might develop them as a resort.

It would require no superhuman effort on the part of the government to lure some of the thousands of Americans who travel to Bermuda, Cuba and Panama to the tropical playground which really belongs to them. As one writer described them, the islands comprise "the loveliest playgrounds in the world. The tiny islands with their brilliant flowers and fragrant forests, glow like jewels in the blue of the Caribbean, each in a setting of sparkling white beaches and bays shimmering emerald and sapphire by turn. The Virgin Islands are fairy isles, homes of romance, basking in the lazy sun of the tropics."

As poor an investment as the $25,000,000 we paid for the islands may now seem, there is no denying they have possibilities as an all-year-round resort. It is a lamentable fact that this paradise must be called the poorhouse of the Caribbean.

"Most Americans," says an English critic, "are not sufficiently civilized to be entrusted with strong drink." It goes to their heads.

A school for politicians has been opened in Madrid. Would you call this extending the treading of the classroom?

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Clowny, sitting in the boat, cried out, "Hey Tinies, please take note that I am rather clever with a paddle in my hand. Real confidence is all you need. Now watch me put on heaps of speed. There's never any trouble when a boat's correctly manned."

And then he started paddling fast and as the little boat whizzed past, the Tinies waved and Copy cried, "We must admit you're good. Now, be careful. Don't get flip or you will make that long boat tip. I guess that all will be all right, if you do as you should."

But Clowny's good luck couldn't last. He started going much too fast and suddenly the boat swerved round and it seemed it would upset. The Tinies, though, was mighty quick. He saved it with a clever trick. And then he made for shore and said, "That's all the ride you get."

The Travel Man said, "Well real soon we'll take an auto for Rangoom. It's many, many miles from here. 'Twill be a real nice ride." And so, before the end of day, the bunch were on their merry way. Along the road, not far off, quite a pretty sight was spied.

It was a cart. Within it sat some natives. Carpy tipped his hat and said, "Where are you bound for? Maybe I could ride with you." Wee Clowny came the quick reply, "There may be room here. You can try. Just hop right in and sit real still. That's all you have to do."

So Carpy, acting brave and bold, ran up and did as he was told. Two oxen were hitched to the cart. They traveled rather slow. Then to the others Carpy cried, "Just follow me upon this ride." And as the cart and auto moved, he shouted, "Here we go!"

(The Tinymites see some pretty scenery in the next story.)

QUOTATIONS

I think all writers of first novels should be given six months in jail. If a law were passed giving six months in jail to every writer of a first book, only the good ones would think it worth their while to do it. —Bertrand Russell, in the Golden Book.

No sensible person with true knowledge of the developments being made in Europe today can say anything but there will be peace, nothing else. —Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state.

Love doesn't have a fair chance in Hollywood. I don't know whether Jack (John Gilbert) was a good husband or not; he hadn't time to be a married man. —Ina Claire.

The full, free, unconscious utterance of the broad "ah" sound of "a" is the surest indication, in speech of social culture which began at the cradle. —Richard Grant White.

American women are too enterprising. And they are spoiled. In England we spoil the men; they stand it better. Women turn out best in adversity. —John B. Priestley.

I am accused of having invented "it." Though I have explained many times exactly what I mean by that diminutive word, there is always the insinuation by people who quote it that I intend the word to suggest sex appeal. I repeat that sex appeal has nothing whatever to do with it. —Elinor Glyn.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

The question is repeatedly asked as to what climate is best suited to people with infections of the nose and throat or with chronic infection of the sinuses.

In general, it is advised that a warm, dry climate is preferable to one that is damp and cold. On the other hand, it must be recognized that climate itself cures nothing, and is merely an adjunct to other specific methods of treatment.

As emphasized by Dr. J. F. Barnhill, the belief so tenaciously held by people in general that the southwestern and southern portions of the United States possess more health giving and health restoring virtues than the more rigorous regions of the north has been controverted lately.

Dr. Barnhill cites the investigation of W. H. Barrows of Stanford University who studied the relative frequency of colds among students in widely separated universities and under different conditions of climate.

At Stanford University, where the climate is mild and soft, about the same number of men in each hundred had common colds under every circumstances as to ways of living as had coryza in Harvard, where the climate is much colder and indeed rigorous. Women students at Stanford and women students at Wellesley, representing similar contrasting conditions, also had about the same number of infections of the nose and throat.

This point of view was reached also by Ellsworth Huntington, who has given special attention to the relationships of climate and disease and discussed them in a book on the subject. Thus there is in contrast that point of view of the scientific investigator who carefully compares two groups and the empirical opinion which represents the established belief of centuries. The physicians in the so-called health regions associated that the infections are many in such areas because most people with infections go there and the opportunity for infection is greater. Of course, some consideration must be accorded to this argument.

Dr. Barnhill is convinced that much depends on the kind of patient who is involved. The class of patient most benefited by a change to warm, dry climate is one whose resistance is low, who takes cold easily and who suffers more or less constantly from some inflammation of the nose, throat and sinuses from the first frost in the autumn to the last frost in the spring. However, he feels that it is not always justifiable or expedient to send a large percentage of patients away from home.

A change of climate is in most instances still a rich man's experiment and a patient should not be sent away from home who has not ample resources or who is not fully assured before hand of having some way of making a living when he goes to the new climate.

Dr. Barnhill cites the investigation of W. H. Barrows of Stanford University who studied the relative frequency of colds among students in widely separated universities and under different conditions of climate.

At Stanford University, where the climate is mild and soft, about the same number of men in each hundred had common colds under every circumstances as to ways of living as had coryza in Harvard, where the climate is much colder and indeed rigorous. M'ADOO STRIKES AT LEADERSHIP OF MR. RASKOB

Refuses To Participate In Jefferson Day Dinner April 13

Los Angeles, Cal., April 9 (UP).—Striking at the leadership of John J. Raskob, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and at those who would make the party wet William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury under President Wilson, has declined to participate in a Jefferson Day dinner here on April 13.

McAdoo was asked to act as vice chairman of the committee of arrangements for the dinner.

In a lengthy statement which he concluded with the declaration "because of acceptance of a vice-chairmanship of the committee would identify me with a movement with which I find myself wholly out of sympathy," the former cabinet officer declined to participate.

"I am firmly convinced that the policies advocated by Chairman Raskob will, if adopted, bring certain and disastrous defeat to the Democratic party in 1932," McAdoo replied to Monroe Butler, chairman of the Democratic party in Los Angeles county.

"Re-legalizing liquor," said McAdoo in his reply. "Will not put food into a single hungry mouth nor provide employment for the great army of jobless men and women in the United States—more than 6,000,000 in number."

Chicago, Apr. 9—(UP)—Anton J. Cermak, Chicago's World's Fair mayor, pronounces his name as though it was spelled "Sir-Mack" and so do most of his friends.

In the Bohemian centers of Chicago's west side, the name is still pronounced "Cher-mok," the old country rendition.

Before Cermak Americanized the pronunciation, he was listed on the payroll of the mines for which he drove mules as "Tony Chermokok," the timekeeper's phonetic interpretation of the Bohemian rendition.

JENNINGS SAYS TREASURE HUNT "JUST BOLONEY"

Former Bandit Uses Plane in Search for Gold In Mexico

Chihuahua City, Mex.—(UP)—Al Jennings, famous bandit and train robber of the early Oklahoma days, is beginning to believe that his new occupation—that of hunting buried treasures and lost mines in Chihuahua and Chihuahua—is just "so much boloney."

His latest exploit, however, shows that the lure of quick riches still rules his heart. Jennings adds excitement to his search for lost treasures by using an airplane.

He recently cracked up. But his plane is in shape again and he is on the trail of mythical riches.

"I haven't found anything yet, but

"I'm liable to strike it rich just over the ridge, or down in the next valley," he hopefully says.

"Treasure is like raw gold—it's where you find it, you know. From my experience so far, I've come to the conclusion that these old maps and symbols concerning exact locations of buried treasure and lost mines are just so much boloney."

The former outlaw turned to evangelism after giving up his criminal career. Later he turned movie actor and played in several western films. He also had dabbled in Oklahoma politics.

He was a writer for a time and his serial magazine story, "Beating Back," brought out his various escapades from outlaw to politician.

"Hell's Angels" is the most lavish and spectacular film production of all time, and required three years to produce.

Ben Lyon, James Hall, Jean Harlow and 20,000 supporting players comprise the cast, and more than 100 true wartime airplanes take part in the overhead action of the picture.

In addition to the main feature, "Hell's Angels," a talking newsreel will be shown.

Blubber is now believed to be the equipment that enables whales to withstand the pressure of great sea depths.

DEMOCRACY IN DANGER; BOARD OF TRADE TOLD

Because Production Is Out-distancing Population Growth

New York, April 9 (UP)—Potential per capita production in the United States is constantly increasing under the propelling influence of modern science and the machine age, yet there is no appreciable increase in population to offset this condition.

Robert F. Scripps, head of the Scripps-Howard concern, said in an address before the New York Board of Trade, Wednesday.

And it is conceivable, he said, that unless a balance is struck between these as yet unaligned growths, the people of America are going to seek a way out—"and it will be the temper of our people to try something different from democracy."

Scripps, invited to speak "with fullest freedom" before the body of industrialists and business men, prefaced his discussion of the nation's economic ills with the statement that "the big business crowd" is "as much dissatisfied with our present economic set-up as are their critics—and equally determined to attempt to do something constructive about it."

"American leadership of the non-political kind," he suggested, "will strive to meet the problem confronting the nation."

Science Accelerates

The increase in potential per capita production and the concurrent stability of population result from application of science to industry, Scripps said. Since 1910 he pointed out, "The pace of science has been an accelerating one, while the rate of population growth has decelerated."

The solution of the depression question lies neither in the undeveloped natural resources of the nation nor in the problem of foreign trade, he said.

"I do not want to be misunderstood as minimizing the importance of the foreign trade that should logically be ours; nor of minimizing the gravity of the evil of blindly executed tariff laws which interfere with and unnaturally restrict such trade—but no nation can be wholly prosperous on the basis of foreign trade alone."

"The whole point I am trying to make is that we must look first inside our own borders and at something else besides our vacant lands and untouched coal and iron reserves, if we are going to so order our production and commodity distribution as to provide social security for all of our people."

Possible Solution

In the light of all the facts which seem inescapable, this conclusion seems inevitable: that unless we are going to break up the machines, put the scientists in jail, and generally try to make our clocks run in reverse, the only balance to increase potential per capita production can be increased per capita spending, or leisure or a combination of both.

"Such increased spending can be achieved in one, or both, of two ways. The simplest plan might be just greatly increased and continuously increasing hourly wages for labor. But no great stride along this line can be taken if all industry and business does not move as a unit. Some agency must be set up to insure that when 'a' starts out on such a course, 'b' does not lag behind and appropriate 'a's' profits before he knows it."

A second plan suggested by him is the expenditure of large sums "on carefully thought out public works programs, for, of course, the public benefit."

Threat to Democracy

Speaking of the threat to a democratic form of government which lies in the problem of stabilizing production and population Scripps said:

"It would be folly to underestimate the voting strength of the millions whose lives are seriously disrupted by depressions like the present one, and of the other millions whose sympathies are enlisted by their suffering, or who feel perhaps that they may be the unlucky ones next time."

"The idea of a 'next time' is fostered by complacent economists who say that depressions are cyclical, and thereby imply that they are inevitable, and that there is nothing much to be done about them. I have said that the great European experiment in dictatorship at least promise continuous employment and social security for the masses. This is their chief appeal, and its force, especially to a man out of a job is plain. It is also plain that the do-nothing school of economy whose only promise is a continuous series of future depressions and unemployment crises, does nothing to weaken this appeal, but strengthens it."

"Our whole hope lies, perhaps, in the fact that we do not accept this doctrine of economic predestination; that we do not believe that the democratic-capitalistic scheme of things is necessarily a chaotic one, in the economic or in any other sphere; that when the machinery starts to break or groan, indicating that major readjustment is called for, we can sense the trouble, and are ready to undertake the task regardless of its magnitude."

TREMOR RECORDED

St. Louis, Apr. 7.—(AP)—A slight earthquake approximately 150 miles south of here, probably in the New Madrid, Mo., area, was recorded on St. Louis University seismograph at 9:37:56 o'clock last night. Father Joseph said today the shock was more intense than the one in the same section April 2 and should have been felt by residents.

Newspaper editors and managing editors are men of vast patience and skill, and with faithful typewriters hold to their will masses of words so the public may read pleasantly. The wonder is that they do not lose heart in the game they must play incessantly with words.

During the "rush hours" when the presses are whirling angrily and all is pandemonium, their path is apt to become hard indeed, for time is precious and little can be given to the niceties of thought.

I dropped into a newspaper office today and passed the time of day with one of these busy editors, who took a few minutes to chat with me. During our talk he said, "Have you heard the one about the irate butcher and the small boy who whistled outside his shop?"

It seemed that the butcher became thoroughly peeved and at last could stand the whistling no longer. Going outside he said to the youngster, "What are you making that noise for, you little scamp?"

"I have lost my dog," answered the boy.

"Well," shouted the butcher, "do you think I got him?"

"I don't know, Mr. Butcher," grinned the kid. "But every time I whistle the sausages in your window wriggle."

MOVEMENT FOR RENOMINATION OF HOOVER ON

Four Prominent Leaders Of Party Openly Espouse Candidacy

By PAUL R. MALLON

United Press Staff Correspondent Washington, April 9 (UP)—The movement for renomination of President Hoover is beginning to form. Four prominent Republicans, two of whom are not directly connected with the administration, have announced themselves in favor of endorsing the party banner to the President again.

They are Senator Moses of New Hampshire; W. Kingsland Macy, New York State Republican Chairman; James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh and Postmaster General Walter Brown. They have not only pledged themselves to Mr. Hoover, but some of them have urged the rank and file of the party to join in.

The airing of their views is being considered here in connection with Brown's return from a personal trip through the south, during which he is understood to have looked over the delegate situation with the next Republican National Convention in mind. His reports were encouraging to the Hoover high command.

Watch Former Ally

Some of the Hoover leaders have been eyeing with misgivings the marked activity of Col. Horace Mann, former Hoover ally in the 1928 campaign. Mann's agents claim to have the help of former National Chairman Claudius Huston in their effort to align southern delegates against Mr. Hoover next year. They have spread reports that they expect more than 200 delegates to be unpledged or for nomination of former President Coolidge.

The Brown report of conditions below the Mason-Dixon line is said to belittle the chances of Mann getting in line any formidable group of southern delegates.

Hoover Plans Speeches

While all these signs point to the inauguration of a definite campaign on Mr. Hoover's behalf, the Republican National Committee here and Mr. Hoover himself are yet silent. Reorganization of the committee in preparation for the campaign has been delayed, the leaders say. Generally they feel the country wants a relaxation from political activity this summer. They indicate that the reorganization will be undertaken in the fall.

Mr. Hoover is to undertake a series of eight speeches beginning April 13 and ending June 17, which will review the accomplishments and hopes of his administration as effectively as if he were taking the stump. The variety of audiences he will face permits him the widest range of subjects. Most of the occasions, however, provide no political significance.

The windup of the series affords a trip through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, three states considered of vital importance to Republican success.

Fort Worth, Tex., Apr. 9—(AP)—Chicago's Cubs have not yet outgrown the habit of grabbing leads, then blowing them.
The "bad inning" ailment has caught them often this spring in exhibition games, and in two games with the Fort Worth Texas League club, it was extremely noticeable. Guy Bush was the victim Tuesday and Pat Malone cracked yesterday for five runs in one inning.

Greenville, S. C., Apr. 9—(AP)—Manager Donie Bush of the Chicago White Sox is just about convinced that Tommy Thomas' arm has come back to life, so much so that the blonde right hander is a likely choice to pitch the season opener. Thomas' arm was lame all last season, but in the present training season, did not appear to have come back. But in recent workouts it responded well and with Ted Lyons, suffering with a bad shoulder, Thomas may get the starting signal.

Philadelphia, Apr. 9—(AP)—Hal Lee, outfielder and Ace Elliott, pitcher, plus a couple of other fellows are largely responsible for the Phillies' defeat of the Athletics in the annual city series. The Phils won yesterday, 6 to 2, making the series games 3 to 1 in their favor. The final game is to be played tomorrow.

Lee came to the Phillies in trade after warning the Brooklyn bench most of the last season. He has been a consistent hitter thus far, getting his second home run in yesterday's tilt, with Lefty Grove on the peak. Elliott turned in his second series victory, holding the world champions to seven hits.

Decatur, Ill., Apr. 9—(AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers now has set third place in the American League standings as his goal for this season. The Tigers believe they can beat out Cleveland and New York but the stick work displayed thus far holds out little hope that the Bengals will be a serious contender for the pennant.

Memphis, Tenn., Apr. 9—(AP)—Outfielder Ernie Orsatti, in the past never regarded as a slugger, seems to have discovered the knack of putting 'em out of the park. Orsatti who was given the left field job with the St. Louis Cardinals when Chick Hafey, the team's chief slugger, decided he did not want to play for what Sam Breadon wanted to pay, has put one out of the park in each of the last two exhibition games. The rest of the Cards also appear to have recovered from a severe batting slump, which worried Manager Gabby Street for several days.

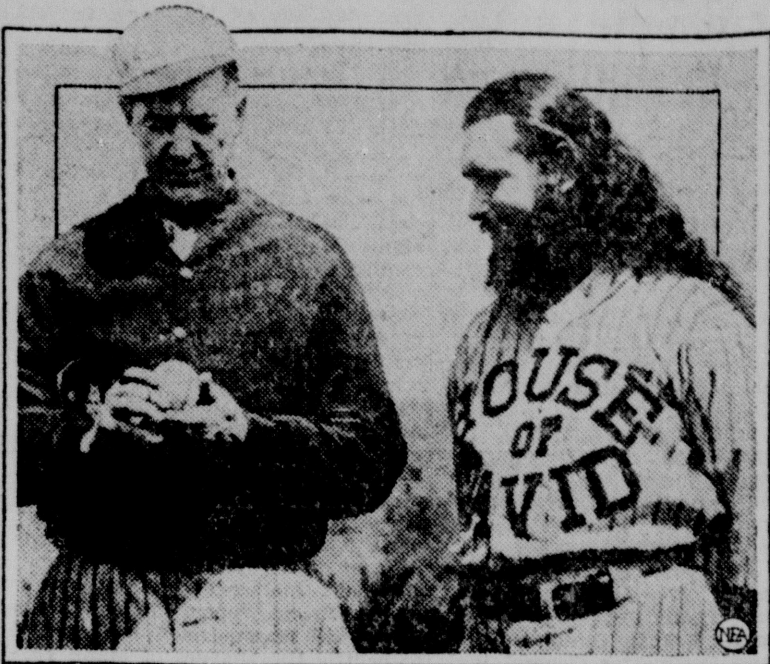

Wichita, Kans., Apr. 9—(AP)—Despite reports he likely would be benched because of his weak hitting, Jim Levey continues to hold forth at shortstop for Manager Bill Killefer's St. Louis Browns and it appears now he will be in the starting lineup against the Detroit Tigers next Tuesday. Levey recently has shown some signs of hitting ability.

Cleveland Is Sure Of Fight For Title

Cleveland, Apr. 9—(AP)—A flip of the pen was all that was needed today to give Cleveland iron-clad assurance of its selection as the site of the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight championship bout.

It was understood a contract for the rental of the Municipal Stadium at a fee of $25,000 would be signed today by William Saxe, representing the Illinois Madison Square Garden Corporation, and George Bender, Stadium manager. They worked out the details last night at a conference with City Manager Daniel E. Morgan and William F. Carey of the New York Madison Square Garden Corporation.
The 15-round go will be held either the night of July 3 or the afternoon of July 4. The date will be determined later and is expected to be formally announced next Wednesday at South Bend, Ind., where Schmeling is scheduled for an exhibition.

Loughran Agrees To Fight Sharkey

Philadelphia, Apr. 9—(AP)—Fried and Fishman, Philadelphia promoters, announced today that Tommy Loughran, former world's light-heavyweight champion, had accepted their terms to meet Jack Sharkey in a 10-round bout at the Municipal Stadium here on June 23.

Maurice Fishman, secretary-treasurer of the Arena Corporation, plans to go to Boston tonight to confer with Jack Sharkey and his manager, Johnny Buckley, concerning the proposed bout. He said Joe Smith, manager of Loughran, had accepted his offer by telephone from New York and that he was prepared to give Sharkey a "substantial" guarantee. He quoted Smith as saying that Loughran was anxious for another bout with the Boston gob and that he favored the stadium as the site.

The Municipal Stadium, scene of the first Dempsey-Tunney championship battle, accommodates more than 100,000 persons.

DISPOSITION OF WHEAT HOLDINGS NOW CONSIDERED

Grain Stabilization Corporation Has 200,000,000 Bushels On Hand

Chicago, April 9—(AP)—Disposition of approximately 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, bought to stabilize the price of the 1930 domestic crop, was considered today by directors and members of the Grain Stabilization Corporation.

Organizing for another year, the directors recommended for election by the Farmers National Grain Corporation board a report of the 1930 crop stabilization program by George S. Milnor, president of the corporation.

The directorate of the stabilization company is recommended by the Farmers Grain Corporation officials. Members of the former, however, can accept or reject the list recommended.

Sam R. McKelvie, retiring grain member of the Federal Farm Board, said the Board's decision on disposition of the accumulated wheat would be influenced by the stabilization corporation's recommendations of a policy of maintaining the pegged price of the 1930 wheat crop.

The directors recommended for approval at Wednesday's meeting are: Milnor; C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers National Grain Corporation; Walter I. Beam and J. M. Chilton, Chicago; William H. Settle, Indianapolis; F. J. Wilmer, Rosalia, Wash.; and Bert Lange, St. Louis.

McKelvie, whose resignation from the Farm Board was practically simultaneous with that of Alexander Legge, chairman, said in his opinion, the grain work of the board would be carried on by Sam. H. Thompson, head of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who will accept his appointment late this week.

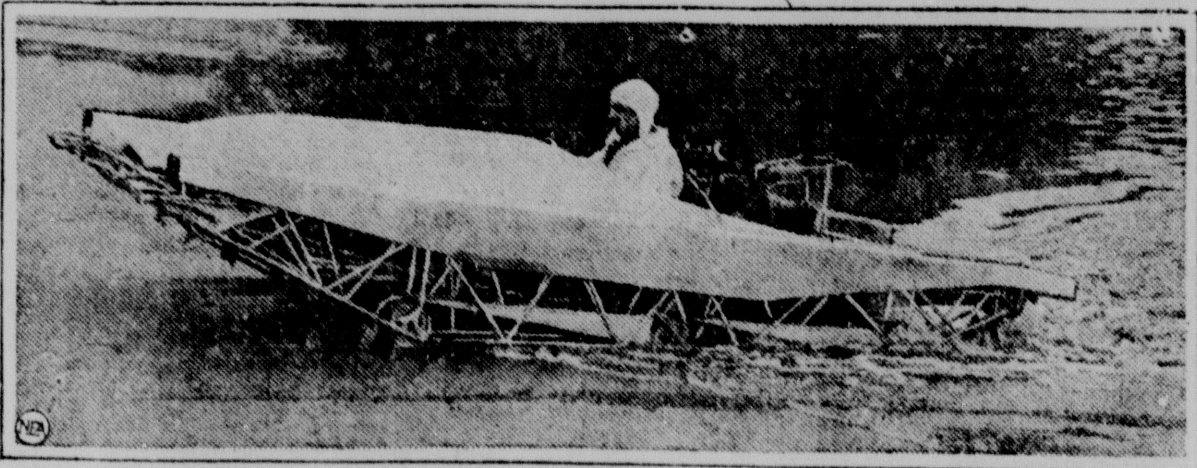

"It has become the policy of the board, however," McKelvie said, "to obtain men intimately familiar with all commodities, but Thompson is best fitted to carry on the grain work."

CALLS POLICY FAILURE

Chicago, April 9—(UP)—The Federal Farm Board has failed to maintain wheat prices at a satisfactory level and its grain holdings constitute a menace to coming crops, James C. Murray, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, declared in an address before the Association of Commerce yesterday.

These charges were followed by Murray with Board of Trade recommendations that the government should "divest itself entirely of the business of merchandising grain," permitting the handling of stored surpluses by private traders; that government funds should not be used at lower rates of interest in the merchandising of commodities in competition with the established trade; that a free and open market is essential to the best interests of producer and consumer, and that the market should be relieved of "unnecessary detailed governmental supervision and bureaucratic control."

Murray attacked the Farm Board's grain stabilization program as ineffectual to orderly marketing on a basis of supply and demand, as he told how the Board of Trade provides work directly or indirectly for nearly 100,000 persons and maintains through its members bank balances of more than $200,000,000 to finance crop movements.

Defends Board Of Trade

"Chicago is a market that annually takes the surplus load of a state like Kansas with its 160,000,000 bushels of wheat, to which may be added Texas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska with 130,000,000, or a total of winter wheat crop harvested in 60 days of 600,000,000 bushels," he said.

Murray's address was delivered on the eve of the celebration of the Board of Trade's eighty-third anniversary.

Murray said the Farm Board had been ably managed by honest men for a period long enough to demonstrate its farm relief scheme ineffective.

"As to the cooperative program of the Farm Board, it has been very clearly demonstrated in the experience of other countries that the unit system of marketing through one national channel is not a success and that a free and open market, carrying a wide public interest, is the only sound and safe means of disposing of staple crops," he said, insisting the Board of Trade to be an asset to the country.

Plea Of Poverty Gets Reduced Fine

Chicago, Apr. 9—(UP)—The plea of poverty advanced by Matt Foley, former district circulation supervisor for the Chicago Herald and Examiner, won him a reduction in his fine for promoting a fake lottery.

Foley appeared before Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday and offered to pay half of his $500 fine, but said he could not raise money for the remainder.

"I haven't been able to get a job," Foley said.

Judge Sabath reduced the fine from $500 to $250, Foley paid it and left.

DEAD SPEAKER COUNTED EVERY ONE HIS FRIEND

Political Foes Unite With Friends In Mourn- ing "Nick"

Washington, Apr. 9.—(AP)—Under the mourning for Speaker Longworth there was deeper grief in the Capitol today for the genial "Nick" who was what Representative McDuffie of Alabama called "a national human being."

"There are a lot of Republicans we could do without," McDuffie, the Democratic whip, wrote the Speaker just a few days ago, "but you are not one of them."

The tribute went with hope for quick recovery from the cold that became fatal pneumonia. It accompanied a resolution urging Speaker Longworth to address the Alabama legislature. The gesture was proposed by an Alabama Democratic leader who had talked with the speaker for a few moments in McDuffie's Capitol office.

It was the "Nick" of such incidents who received first tributes up and down the Capitol. It was he who is said to have inspired Democratic Leader Gurnea of Texas to refer, once to "about 200 Longworth votes" which conceded depended upon the decision of the Speaker.

Was Big Man
He was a big man. This "Nick," he was bald and ruddy-faced, uncommonly healthy. His clothes and the handsome cane he carried were those of the wealth and position to which he was born. "Nick's" voice was as smooth as his hands, except when he was hoarse from colds to which he was subject.

When this man greeted anyone, he smiled; and his directness was the same with the strangers to whom he invariably nodded in the House lobby, as with the titled European he would welcome to his home in flawless French. The evenness of his temper was traditional. So was his capacity for fraternal good will in politics.

Not long ago the music magazine, "Etude" asked the Speaker, in a symposium, what composition he would choose to hear, if he could, when he was dying. Longworth chose Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. He was an accomplished violinist and a pianist.

The success of Longworth's leadership lay in his ability to sense the temper of the membership.

Made Own Decisions
The Speaker somehow knew. Far from letting his own decisions wait upon the trend, he formed his opinions on legislation, and made every effort to put them through. It was said, in fact, that upon the power in Longworth's capacity for holding his hands and waiting until the rank and file came to his position rested many a solid Republican vote.

The story his associates told today around the Capitol was that of a man born "with a silver spoon in his mouth" who went to work and for six years occupied what he was always proud to call "the greatest office in any legislative branch of any government in the world"—the Speakership in the House of Representatives.

"He was uniformly courteous to every member of the House," said one Democratic leader. "Any member, whether the humblest or the proudest, could approach Speaker Longworth, assured of fair consideration."

From his own ranks came the tribute: "On a secret ballot there would never have been opposition to Longworth's selection as Speaker."

During his last illness his Capitol office was besieged with anxious questions from his closest political friends to his bitterest political enemies—all personal admirers and well-wishers of the "Gentleman from Ohio."

PAULINA LOSES PAL

Washington, Apr. 9.—(AP)—The House lost a Speaker today but Paulina Longworth mourned her "daddy."

The flaxen-haired six-year-old daughter of the Speaker and granddaughter of President Roosevelt was in Cincinnati, miles from her father's bedside awaiting his coming for a promised vacation together.

Miss Paulina and Mr. Longworth were real pals. No demands warranted an interference in their plans together, and on several occasions she was a delighted observer in the House gallery or on the floor beside her proud parent.

Only recently an important visitor sought an engagement with the Speaker at a certain afternoon. He was told it was impossible.

"My daughter is participating in a children's play," the Speaker was reported to have said. "I could not afford to miss that."

Americans Defeat Chinese In Fight

Ichang, China, Apr. 9.—(AP)—A battle between a handful of American naval guards aboard the Yangtze river steamer Iping and a considerable body of troops, supposedly nationalist soldiers, took place near here early today.

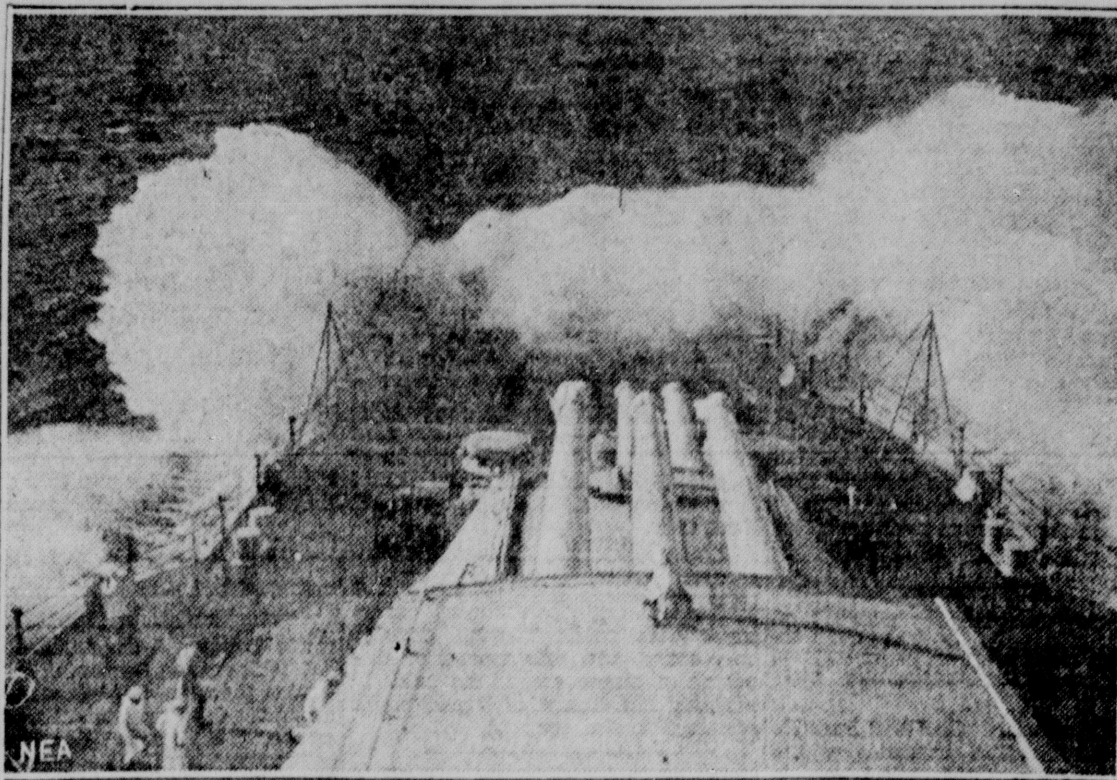

The Chinese soldiers opened fire on the ship but were silenced by the American guns.

The Chinese poured sharp fire into the Iping, which had been disabled by striking a rock in the Yangtze rapids and was limping into Ichang for repairs. The engagement was severe but short, the American fire proving too effective for the Chinese to withstand.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calotone powder from your drug store sprinkle a little on a hot, place near the face, the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

Speeding Home With Presidential Voyager

High waves like white clouds, rolling over the sharp prow of the U. S. S. Arizona, made this striking picture as the big warship sped homeward from the West Indies with President Hoover aboard. POLICE DOG IS HERO OF FIGHT WITH HOLD-UPS WITH HOLD-UPS

Gave Life For Master Who Killed One Of Two Gunmen

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Charles Nef's police dog, Bucky, gave his life for his master, then Nef evened the score by killing the bandit who had shot Bucky.

The dog was four years old. He spent his days playing with Nef's two little grandchildren. At night, he guarded Nef's grocery store. Three times during his life he routed robbers who tried to enter.

Nef, who is 55, was playing pinch-olast night with his wife and Jerome Shepard in a room at the rear of the store. Bucky was on guard behind a curtain.

A little bell over the front door tinkled. Bucky did not move. He knew it was just customer, entering. "Put up your hands," snapped one of the "customers" as Nef turned away.

"Get 'em," shouted Nef, and the battle began. Nef and his dog on one side, the bandits on the other.

Bucky left his hiding place like a flash. He missed on his first jump at the bandit's throat, landing beyond him, and as he turned, snarling, the bandit fired. Bucky crumpled on the floor, a bullet through his brain.

The dog was dead, but he kept his faith, for his appearance so startled the bandits they forgot Nef and took advantage of the diversion to procure his pistol from a shelf.

Nef opened fire. One bandit, later identified as Harry Mason, 23, an Indian with a criminal record, fell a bullet through his lungs.

Displaying courage equal perhaps to that of Bucky or Nef, the second bandit rushed to his pal, picked him up and started dragging him away. Nef, astounded, stood for a moment, then fired again, but missed, and started in pursuit.

The fleeing bandit dropped his pal on the sidewalk and jumped into a waiting car. Another shot from Nef also went wild and the robber escaped. Mason was dead when Nef reached him.

ROBBERS SHOW NO CONCERN IN CERMAK VICTORY

Chicago, Apr. 9.—(AP)—A night of holdups and robberies left police today with four suspects captured. Two more were being sought.

The quartet captured, police said, confessed to a number of drugstore and street holdups.

They gave their names as Frank Bailey, 21; Angelo Raimio, 19; Anton Dinovo, 16; Frank Fragolo, 21.

The uncaught two swept through the Chicago loop early today and within two hours, had held up eight restaurants. Their loot totaled $469.

Another robber took $65 and a watch from a physician who fired two bullets after him.

Meanwhile, in the suburban district, two county highway policemen were forced to give up hopes of capturing a man and a woman after a wild ten mile chase at a speed of more than eighty miles an hour. Police had ordered them to stop and produce their identification cards. When the driver produced a pistol instead, then threw his car in gear and started away, the officers followed. Half a dozen shots fired by the police failed to stop the fleeing car.

GRAF ZEPPELIN OFF ON JAUNT TO HOLY LAND

Commander Also Plans To Land At Cairo: Returns Monday

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Apr. 9.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin set out at dawn today on a Mediterranean jaunt to Egypt and Palestine with the intention of doing what was forbidden in March, 1929.

The Graf this trip has permission to land at Cairo and let its passengers look around a bit, but two years ago when a similar trip was projected it was understood the British government had entered tacit objections to its passing over Egypt.

Dr. Ecker, when the Graf reached the Egyptian border at that time shifted his course so that it would not be necessary to pass over the British protected territory, commenting that "unfavorable winds" were blowing off Egypt.

When apprised that the British government felt that in the event of mishaps over Egypt the government would be responsible, Dr. Ecker stated: "Yes, yes, I see that we are all a lot of little children whom our English guardians must prevent from dropping into the water and getting our feet wet."

There were 25 passengers aboard today, among them flight Lieutenant R. S. Booth, who commanded the R-100 on his flight to Canada. Dr. Ecker, who is in command, plans to land at Cairo Saturday, then cruise over Egypt and Palestine and return to Germany Monday.

Gandhi Will Wear Pants At Confab

Amritsar, India, Apr. 9.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, making his plans today for his forthcoming visit to London for the second round table conference on an Indian constitutional status, said that he had decided to wear pants in the British Capital after all.

He indicated that it was even possible that he would appear at the round table sessions with his pigtail, or chutia, shaved off. The chutia is a long tuft of hair worn religiously by Hindus, whose popular interpretation of the mode is that it enables friends, when the wearer dies, to pull him out of hell. Gandhi wears a chutia habitually although otherwise he is bald.

Stomach Ulcers Cause Life of Misery

Formerly Were Hard to Cure— But Now You Have Only to Take ULCICUR

While Ulcers of the Stomach are today probably afflicting a greater number of people than ever before in history—owing to the changes in food habits and other environments of present day civilization—it is indeed fortunate that we have a remedy for Ulcers as dependable as ULCICUR. Not only will ULCICUR quickly remedy an ulcerated condition but it will also bring relief for almost any stomach disorder.

Mr. D. J. Eugene, of 1252 Thorndale Ave., Chicago, Illinois, reporting on the condition of his wife, says: "She was at the Lakeside Hospital, taken there after she had had 23 hemorrhages one day, brought on by stomach ulcers. Doctors said an operation was necessary. But she could take no nourishment to build up for an operation. Heard of ULCICUR and tried it. She is in better health today than ever before. Gained 35 pounds, and weighs more than in last ten years. Eats anything and everything with no ill effects. I owe you a lot."

ULCICUR is recognized as the treatment most in demand for stomach ailments. It is compounded by the Ullrich Co., Inc., 2642 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois, and nearly every drug store carries it in stock continually, making it easy for you to try a bottle. If for any reason your nearest druggist happens to be without it, ask him to get a bottle for you.

CERMAK TO TAKE OATH OF OFFICE THIS AFTERNOON

New Mayor Of Chicago Loses No Time In Assuming Duties

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Anton Joseph Cermak, Democrat, became Mayor of Chicago today when he was administered the oath of office at a special meeting of the city council.

The new mayor who defeated William Hale Thompson, Republican, in Tuesday's election by a plurality of 194,257 votes, assumed his new position less than 48 hours after the polls closed. Every possible shortcut had been taken so that Cermak could start his promised reorganization of the municipal government.

The votes were canvassed in record time, a special meeting of the city council was called to approve Cermak's bond, the new city clerk was sworn in and then Cermak took the oath.

Chicago, Apr. 9.—(AP)—The Democratic broom which swept Anton J. Cermak in and William Hale Thompson out of the mayorship, was poised for action today.

Cermak's formal induction as Chicago's new World's Fair mayor was the order of the day, with Cermak declaring he had promised to "clean out the city hall" and that he proposed to "lose no time in doing it."

"The bums who hang around the city hall are going to be swept right out," Cermak told interviewers yesterday. Almost simultaneously he told London newspaper men in a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation that his advice to Alphonse Capone was for him to stay out of Chicago for the next four years.

"Capone is under sentence here you know, and I suggest that he stay in Florida," Cermak said. His reference was to a six months sentence imposed on the gang chieftain by a federal judge for contempt of court for failure to respond to a summons from a grand jury which was investigating incomes. Sentence was stayed pending an appeal.

Canvass Completed
Administration of the oath of office to Cermak had been tentatively set for tomorrow, but completion of the official canvass of Tuesday's voting in record time yesterday, made possible this formality today.

Cermak spent some time considering the selection of department heads, but declined to give out any advance information. Rumor had it that Col. A. A. Sprague might be named as Commissioner of Public Works, to succeed Richard W. Wolfe.

Chicago-Freeport Trains Do Not Pay

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 9.—(UP)—The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad today filed application with the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to discontinue operation of two passenger trains, operated daily except Sunday between Chicago and Freeport.

The trains, known as No. 701 and 704 start at South Elgin, West Elgin, Marengo, Belvidere, Rockford and other intermediate points.

Motor bus and privately owned automobiles were cited by the railroad as the cause for decreased revenue obtained from operation of the trains.

Unruly Prisoners To Lose 'Good Time'

Joliet, Ill., April 9 (UP)—Inmates of the Illinois state prison who participate in future riots must serve sentences and will be allowed no leniency for the usual "good time," under terms of an order issued by Warden Henry C. Hill.

The order, which became effective at noon yesterday directed Deputy Wardens "to make such change in the record of an inmate hereafter found guilty of participating in mutiny, riot, or insurrection in the destruction of state property of any nature, or in an attack on the person of any officer of the Illinois state prison, to deprive him of all good time earned or unearned."

Hill said that about 15 known leaders of the recent riots will be called before the May grand jury on charges of arson and malicious destruction of state property.

OLD TURK SAILS FOR HOME; GLAD TO LEAVE STATES

Zaro Agha, Who Says He's 157, Has Been Coop- ed Up Lately

New York, Apr. 9.—(AP)—Zaro Agha, the Turk who claims to be 157 years old, sailed for home today on the Bremen and glad he was to shake the dust of the United States from his American style shoes.

For this Turk, who says he is a veteran of five wars and eleven marriages, has had enough of us. He wants to get back to his house in Stamboul. Everyone has been most kind to him. He has met such American emigrants as Elisabeth Marbury, Democratic National Committeewoman from New York; and Tallulah Bankhead, actress. But to a man who says he remembers the face of Napoleon Bonaparte, such honors are puny.

Zaro has been feeling cooped up lately. He has lived in various hotels during the last few months and his only exercise has been walking. His interpreter is authority for the statement that he has covered 20 to 25 blocks daily—pretty good hike for a man of 157. But it hasn't been enough.

In Stamboul he will be close to the various farms of his various relatives—there are 36 sons and daughters alone, by Zaro's count—and on a farm a man can really stretch himself.

A couple of days before he sailed Zaro had the misfortune to damage his most prized souvenir of American civilization. He dropped his set of false teeth.

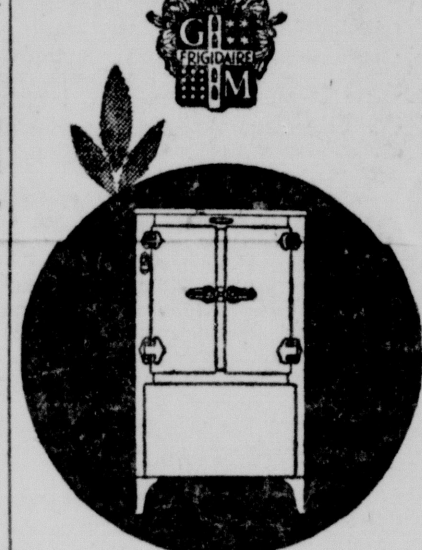

But teeth aren't necessary to him, as he eats no food that requires much mastication. Rice boiled soft and whole wheat bread are his staples, together with sweets in any form available.

COURT'S RULING IN RAIL CASE TO AFFECT WORKERS

Missouri Pacific Appeals From Decision of Old Law

Washington (UP)—The Supreme Court is expected to hand down a decision of wide-spread interest to the railroads and the railroad labor brotherhoods soon after it reconvenes April 13.

The case is that of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company against Attorney-General Hal Norwood of Arkansas and amounts substantially to a test of the Full Train and Full Switching Crew laws of that state.

Indirectly, union railroad labor in about 23 states may be affected by the decision since that number are estimated to have similar laws passed years ago. They were originally intended to safeguard the lives of employees and passengers on railroad trains by insuring a safe number of operators in each railroad train crew.

Laws Valid
The Supreme Court long ago ruled that these laws were a perfectly valid use of the police powers of the states passing them. The railroads, in the Arkansas case, contend, however, that the laws are now as obsolete as the equipment used by the roads in those days.

In the Arkansas case the Full train crew law was passed in 1907 and the Full switching crew law in 1913. They provided penalties for roads who failed to have a specified complement of men on trains coming up to certain provisions in length and run.

Since the days when those laws were passed, the road contends, there have been widespread changes in railroad operation. Invention has brought greater safety to railroad operation and travel through the development of safety and control devices. For that reason, they argue, the conditions which made the Arkansas law and inferentially other similar state laws, no longer exist and instead of being a benefit they are an undue burden on interstate commerce.

$600,000 Saving
With the Arkansas restriction removed the Missouri Pacific could save $600,000 a year, road attorneys contend.

The objection which labor has to the elimination of the statute is based on the reduction in employment it would cause. The lower court gave a decision favorable to labor when it dismissed the road's complaint, a decision which is being appealed.

Among the states having similar statutes which may be affected by this possible ruling are: Arizona, California, Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Warning Issued To Oil Buyers

El Paso, Tex. (UP)—If you have that urge to get rich quick by buying oil stock, Ed Hodge, manager of the Business Men's Protective Association, offers some standing advice as to what one should know before investing.

"The standing advice, of course, is to investigate before investing," Hodge said.

"You should know the principals of the company, their previous experience and record.

"Location of the well, geological formation, acre spacing, and drainage area, also are needed things to know. The number of wells on the promoter's tract, and on surrounding acreage are indications of what is in the field.

The estimated average of recoverable production and the effect of the production schedule also are important items.

"The price asked for units should be compared with prices quoted in the producing area, and marketability are important, as well as whether the unit offered involves joint liability of investors."

HORSES SOLD ON INSTALLMENTS

St. Louis, Mo.—(UP)—You can now buy a horse for a $1 down and a $1 a week. The scheme for selling horses on the installment plan is sponsored by the Humane Society for the benefit of unemployed with small means.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute.

Story of Rise Of Anton Cermak To High Position

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, April 9 (UP)—Forty-two years ago Anton J. Cermak—always "Tony" to his friends—was fired from a dollar-a-day job in Bradwood, Ill., coal mine because he asked for a raise.

Today he stands at the pinnacle of political success in Chicago. He has defeated William Hale Thompson, a feat heretofore considered almost impossible.

Besides political honors, Cermak has a fortune, a town home, a country estate—a far cry from the barren home in Bohemia where he was born in 1873.

Between the sunny day in Bradwood when "Tony" rode the cage up from the gloomy depths of a coal mine and set out for Chicago with all his possessions wrapped in a bandana handkerchief and yesterday when hosts of friends congratulated him on defeating Thompson, lay a career that has something of Lincoln's life in it, something of Edward Bok's, but mostly it's Tony Cermak's, the story of boy and man who knew what he wanted and got it.

Cermak was earning his own living at 11; in business (and in love) at 19; married and owner of a home at 21; a state legislator at 29; and alderman at 36. President of the Cook County Board at 49 and Mayor of Chicago at 58.

Plenty of his friends say "Tony" hasn't stopped rising yet. They visualize him as governor of Illinois and perhaps even Senator.

As for Cermak, he says, "There's plenty of time to think of those things later. There's work to be done now."

There was only one touch of sadness about Cermak today. The girl he met in a Lawndale restaurant when he was struggling upward and who in a few months became Mrs. Cermak, was missing. She died about a year ago. It was the first time she hadn't shared his glory.

Cermak's father and grandfather were miners in Bohemia so it seemed inevitable that "Tony's" first job would be digging coal. It wasn't much of a job as jobs ran in those days but it made him independent, a quality that has characterized his life. He drove mules through passage of the Bradwood mine, hauling cars of coal.

The hours were long and the pay 35 cents a day. There wasn't much time for school so he, like Lincoln, studied at night. In the summer time, when work was slack in the mines he hired out to farmers or worked on the small farm his father owned.

By the time he reached 16 he was full-fledged mule driver at $1.00 a day and leader of the miners. They considered themselves down trodden so one day in 1889 they struck.

"What the hell's the matter?" John Cherry, mine superintendent, shouted at the idle workers.

"We want a raise," Cermak told him, speaking for the miners.

"You'll get it. Come on." Cherry led Cermak to the cage, put him on it and waved it up.

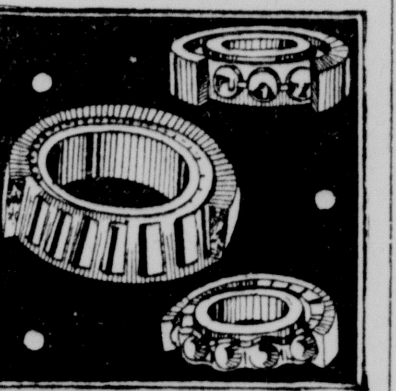

"There's your raise," shouted the foreman as the cage rose.

And it was, for Cermak rolled his few belongings into a bandana handkerchief and started for Chicago, the city he had dreamed of.

He trudged along the canal, for he had no money for train fare. He arrived in Lawndale on West 26th street.

The prospect for a job looked good as there were many men working here then. Cermak stopped and the history of Cermak and Lawndale are closely interwoven from then on. (To Be Continued.)

ORIENT, SOUTH PACIFIC UNITS IN RATALIATION

Boost Tariff Against The United States To Meet U. S. Rates

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, April 9 (UP)—European and Oriental countries and political units in the South Pacific have followed the lead of the United States by countering with tariff increases in the 10 months since the Hawley-Smoot act raising duties on American imports became effective.

Sixteen European nations and 13 countries and political units in the Far East and South Pacific have raised the tariff wall higher against many leading commodities produced or manufactured in this country and sold in foreign markets.

Some of these tariff increases, as in the case of South American countries, generally have been interpreted as retaliatory to increases made by the United States on products those countries sent here. Sixteen South American countries have raised their tariff rates since President

Hoover signed the Hawley-Smoot act, making a total of 45 countries and political units altogether which have boosted their rates, according to the tabulation made by the United Press from official reports to the Commerce Department, which that department has not tabulated.

Exports Decreased
A decrease of nearly half a billion dollars in United States sales to Europe occurred in the eight months beginning last July 1 through February, this year, as compared with the corresponding period of the year before. The tariff went into effect last June 17. The drop totaled $461,119,987. Exports for the eight months ending February were valued at $1,136,298,255. For the comparable eight months in the previous year, they were $1,597,418,162.

European countries sold to the United States $338,523,144 less of goods in the eight month period this year as compared with the previous year. Total imports dropped from $501,979,181 to $338,523,144. There has been a comparable decrease in trade with Oriental and South Pacific countries.

Trade of all countries has been off in recent months due to the world-wide depression. What effects the tariff increases have had can not be computed. United States officials have declined to comment on the tariff increases and the possible effect, but critics of the Hawley-Smoot bill attribute part of the trade decline to the act and the hostility they say it has aroused among many nations.

European countries which have boosted tariff rates are Austria, Poland, Belgium, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Lithuania, Spain, Portugal, Switzerland and Yugoslavia. In some cases the increases cover a number of imports, in others only a few. They affect leading American commodities and such specialties as corsets and electric lamps.

The advances in rates in the Orient and the South Pacific likewise cover all sorts of leading American commodities.

The countries and political units which have raised their rates are: China, Japan, Siam, Dutch East Indies, British India, Egypt, Syria, Federated Malay States, British New Guinea, Hongkong, Australia, New Zealand and the Cook Islands.

The increases continue as the reports come into the Commerce Department from its trade commission. Japan, which doubled the duty on rice in November, just recently increased the tariff on certain types of lumber. British India recently made a one-year increase on wheat duties. Australia recently put in a general schedule of increases in addition to those already boosted, which included automobiles, petroleum, foodstuffs, boots and shoes and other articles. France recently increased her sugar rate.

The most substantial change in the Far East during recent months was the general revision in China which became effective January 1, with supplementary modifications a month later. China's revision was the result of internal policy in that country and is not attributed to the United States revision, though affecting many United States exports. The leading increases disadvantageous to the United States were leaf tobacco of the higher grades, motor-buses, automobiles, raisins, toilet preparations and foodstuffs.

CAMELS are wrapped Only in MOISTURE-PROOF Cellophane

Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition.

THE whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the factory freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack.

The above chart prepared by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory tells you why.

Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels!

Factory-fresh Camels are air-sealed in the new Sanitary Package which keeps the dust and germs out and keeps the flavor in.

Make these tests yourself

It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

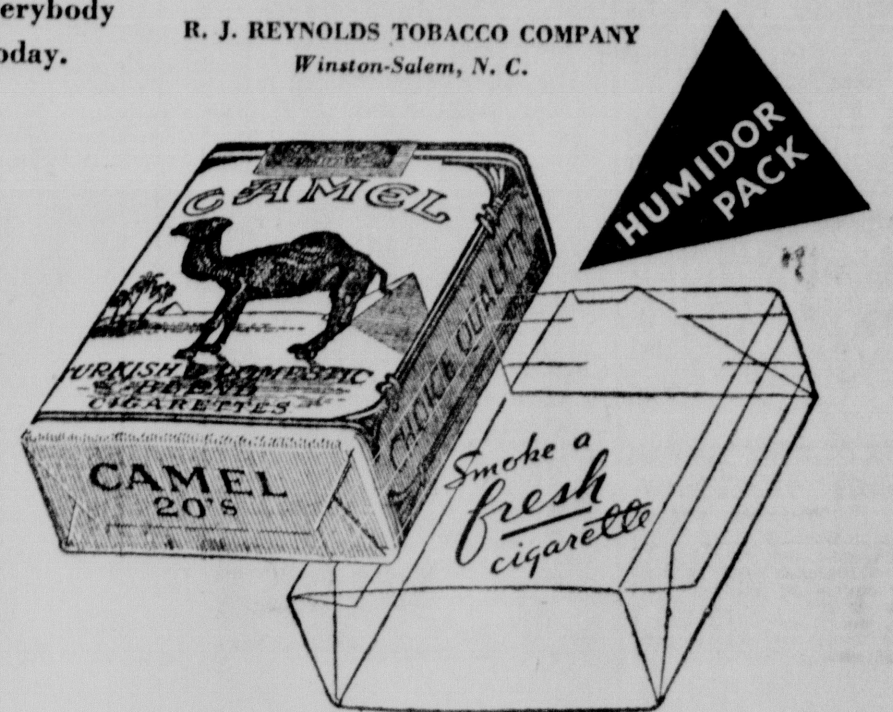

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

CAMELS

Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

EITHER SHARKEY OR CARNERA TO BE RECOGNIZED

N. Y. Commission Will "See" Winner Bout Early In June

By DIXON STEWART
United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, April 9 (UP)—Either Jack Sharkey, who has failed in his every important ring test, or Primo Carnera, who has needed considerable outside assistance to survive sixth-rate opposition will become world's heavyweight champion if present plans of the New York State Athletic Commission are carried out.

These plans call for Sharkey and Carnera to meet at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10, in a 15 round "charity" bout under the promotion of James J. Johnson, with the winner promised titular recognition by the New York Commission.

Reputedly Johnson already has both fighters under contract and has secured commission sanction for the bout. Commission rules which provide heavy penalties for promoters carrying on negotiations with suspended boxers prevent Johnson from announcing the match, inasmuch as Carnera is under suspension for the California "towel throwing" incident which enabled him to win from Bobo Chevalier on a technical knock-out when it appeared that the unknown coast Negro was about to shatter the Italian "super-man" myth.

However, Carnera is scheduled for reinstatement, with Commissioner James Farley's statement to this effect believed to indicate that the official action will be taken Friday.

With the suspension out of the way, a contract with Madison Square Garden which calls for Primo to meet the Schmeling-Stribling survivor will be Johnson's only obstacle. Johnson claims the contract isn't binding, and he has added an ace in the hole in the fact that any protest by Madison Square Garden will lay the Garden open to suspension for dealing with a suspended boxer. Presumably the "championship" match is a reward for the commission's "fair-haired boys"—Johnson and Sharkey. Astute little Jimmy always has "played ball" with the commission and is to be rewarded by securing sanction for a bout which no other promoter could hope to make.

SPORT BRIEFS

South Bend, Ind., Apr. 9—(UP)—Knute Rockne left his entire estate to his widow and four children. Mrs. Rockne and the American Trust Company were named as joint administrators of the estate when the will was filed in Probate Court here yesterday.

Vitus E. Jones, attorney for the estate, characterized the estate as "very modest" outside of the insurance, which has been placed as between $100,000 and $125,000.

A suit may develop over some of the insurance policies with double indemnity clauses because Rockne was killed in an airplane accident. Michael Mulcaire, Chairman of the Board of Athletic Control, expects to name Rockne's successor as Director of Athletics within a week. The Notre Dame football coach for several months.

Chicago, Apr. 9—(UP)—Helene Madison, 17-year-old swimming star from Seattle, held another national record today after swimming the 75-yard free style in 43.8 seconds. The former record was 45.1 made by Ethel Luckie in 1925.

With Miss Madison swimming the last leg, the Washington A. C. team defeated the Illinois Women's Athletic club team in the 220-yard relay race and set a new record of 1 minute, 56.9 seconds breaking the former mark made by the Women's Swimming Association of New York.

Chicago, Apr. 9—(UP)—Edgar Norman, 171, Chicago Norwegian, knocked out Harry Robarth, 194, in the eighth round here last night.

Chicago, April 9—(UP)—Henry (Hank) Bruder, captain of the Northwestern football team last fall, won his second match in the professional wrestling ring last night by throwing Billy Schmidt, more than twice his age, in 7 minutes and 35 seconds.
